WAR?

'WHITLOCK WITHDRAWN'

(By United Press)
Washington, March 24.—The state department has announced the withdrawal of Brand Whitlock as minister to Belgium. No further statement is made.

Washington, March 24.—The withdrawal of Brand Whitlock by the State Department is taken to mean that the "end" is beginning. The State Department also announces that all Americans engaged in relief work in connection with the government are advised to withdraw from the country over which Germany now rules. Mr. Whitlock has been ordered to take up his official residence at Havre, France.

Reports coming through state that Whitlock has been greatly inconvenienced for several weeks by the German officials of Belgium. Mail has been intercepted. He was denied the services of a courier and all messages, even those in plain English, were held up.

It is now the firm belief in Washington that the withdrawal of Whitlock is only the first move toward putting this nation in shape to make a formal declaration of war and that his call to get out of Belgium will be followed by many governmental actions of a like nature.

The sinking of the Norwegian Steamer Ronald with a Portland, Oregon, sailor aboard further complicates the situation.

Dazzling Beauty of C. H. S. Cage
Blamed for Their Easy Defeat

Using Williamsport High Dasket Ball team for the instrument the C. H. S. Fve gave the new gymnasium in the new High School building a thorough tryout last night and it surpassed all expectations as a proper place for the athletic glorification of C. H. S. The boys responded with plenty of vim and ginger and at the first sound of the referee's whistle were off with a spang determined to wrest victory from the representatives of the m'nsaire city. The first half was exceedingly fast and furnished the immense crowd with one of the best exhibitions of basket ball ever witnessed here. The cheering and applause given both sides on stellar plays was quick to show appreciation of good sportmanship on either side.

A crowd of at least seven hundred were on hand to witness the game and those "650 seats were all filled on Friday night" as the Progress said they would be. The second half was not quite so fast as the first but the game ended with the best of good feeling, many displays of stellar basket shooting and a score of 32 to 18 in favor of the team that always whips DuBois. Every member of the local team did excellent work but the spectacular shooting of the little boy of the crowd, Pooler, both on goals and fouls, brought forth a great deal of comment.

NO BITTER ISSUE IN NEW SESSION OF CONGRESS

Some Sidelights on History of
Past Sessions Where Party
Alignments Were Close

SHARP FIGHT FOR SPEAKER

Washington, D. C., March 22.—When the House of Representatives of the Sixty-fifth Congress assembled for the extra session next month it will find the two parties lined up with a smaller difference in numbers than ever before; and it is this small difference which is expected to result in a sharp fight for the Speakership, which is causing the students of history and parliamentary precedents to dive into the volumes telling of former close contests at the Capitol. Although the present political status is extremely interesting, there are no such bitter issues at stake as those which tore the country in the days preceding the civil war.

In the Twenty-sixth Congress the organization of the House was delayed three weeks on account of a contest in the New Jersey delegation, the five candidates who had been returned as elected at large having their seats contested by the five Democratic candidates on the ground of a miscount in one county. For three days the clerk, who under the rules always presides during the election of a Speaker, refused to put any motions save to adjourn, and the proceedings were very disorderly. John Quincy Adams, former President of the United States, having become disgusted with the behavior of the clerk, took the chair, called the House to order and declared that he would entertain any parliamentary motions. The first motion was to elect him Speaker pro tem, and he presided for two weeks, until Robert M. P. Hunter, of Virginia, a Whig, was elected Speaker.

The Thirty-first Congress was badly mixed up politically, neither party having a majority. There were 110 Democrats, 105 Whigs and nine Free Soilers. The latter refused to vote for either the Whig or Democratic candidates for Speaker, and after sixty-two fruitless ballots agreed that on the next ballot a plurality should elect. Howell Cobb of Georgia, a Democrat, was then elected Speaker.

The Thirty-fourth Congress was another "conglomerate" body, the Democrats having a small majority in the Senate, and neither party a majority in the House. There were 108 "anti-Nebraska" and Republican members, eighty-three Democrats and forty-three Americans and Southern Whigs. After 133 ballots had been taken without result it was agreed that a plurality should elect, and Nathaniel P. Banks, Jr., of Massachusetts an anti-Nebraska Republican, was elected as Speaker.

The Thirty-sixth Congress was equally "conglomerate" the Democrats controlling the Senate and no party controlling the House. The Democrats had 101 members, the Republicans 113 and the Americans twenty-three. These latter were all from the South, except four. The Republicans were loosely organized. There was no majority and a serious situation confronted the Republicans if they wished to place their Speaker in the chair. There were sixteen candidates on the first ballot. John Sherman of Ohio received 66 of the Republican votes and Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania received 43, while Representative Boone of Virginia, a Democrat, led with 86. Representative Grow withdrew his name and John Sherman took the lead. But Sherman's endorsement of "Helper's Impending Crisis," an abolitionist's book, was made an excuse by Humphrey Marshall of Kentucky and Henry Winter Davis of Maryland, for "helping" his nomination, and after two months of fruitless balloting—Mr. Sherman several times lacking but two votes for election—William Penniman of New Jersey was elected Speaker.

Personal encounters were narrowly averted during this long struggle over the Speakership. Branch of North Carolina challenged Grow of Pennsylvania. There were threats of killings and assaults. There were arrests of members who became too obstreperous with the House. Penniman and Henry Winter Davis of Maryland, for "helping" his nomination, and after two months of fruitless balloting—Mr. Sherman several times lacking but two votes for election—William Penniman of New Jersey was elected Speaker.

KING JOB LISTED AS HAZARDOUS OCCUPATION

Past Five Years Has Seen Wonderful Changes in Personnel of Rulers of Europe

MANY MORE WILL TOPPLE SURE

London, March 23.—The recent upheaval in Russia, long regarded as the European stronghold of absolutism, has set the man in the street wondering who will be the next king to be thrown into the discard in the great game of war.

Not since the era of the Napoleon wars has the world been treated to the spectacle of so many toppling and tottering thrones as has been furnished since the beginning of the present conflict in Europe.

In chronological order, the momentous changes that have taken place among the rulers in Europe since the beginning of the war may be summarized as follows:

Belgian monarchy overthrown by the German invasion at the very commencement of the war. King Albert and the other members of the royal family fled to France. For the past two years the Belgian king and queen have remained near the front in the western theater of war, while their children have been cared for in England. King Albert's restoration to the throne depends altogether upon the ultimate triumph of the Allies. In such an event he may safely look forward to a restoration of his dominions with a large accession of territory to compensate him for the sufferings he has endured. Victory for the Germans, on the other hand could mean nothing else to him than permanent exile. Whichever way the game results, however, the Belgian king will be entitled to a niche in history as one of the most heroic figures of the war.

The throne of King Peter of Serbia tumbled when the Central allies invaded his dominions in the latter part of 1915. In behalf of the aged ruler it may be said that he led his people in a valiant defense, continuing to give battle until the last Serbian stronghold had fallen before the invading Tenthons. In the end he narrowly escaped capture by fleeing on horseback. The probability of his ever again taking up the sceptre at Belgrade is regarded as exceedingly remote. If Serbia is restored as an independent kingdom it will be under the sovereignty of some one other than King Peter. It is well understood that the exiled monarch has no desire to return to the throne. It is his wish, when peace returns to retire to private life in Geneva where he spent many years before called to the Serbian throne and where he still has many friends.

The return of peace will have nothing in store for King Nicholas of Montenegro, no matter which group of powers wins. Should the two Kaisers prove victorious, Montenegro would be either incorporated with Austria, or else it would be awarded to Prince William of Wied, to serve as a province of his reconstituted kingdom of Albania. If, on the other hand, final victory rests with the quadruple entente, Montenegro, which is peopled in the main by Serbs, will be assigned to the kingdom of Serbia, a plan which would meet with no opposition whatever on the part of the Montenegrin people, who have long been dissatisfied with King Nicholas and more so with his sons.

A large question mark symbolizes the situation with regards to the future of King Ferdinand, who ascended the throne of Rumania on the death of his uncle King Charles on October 10, 1914, and entered the war on the side of the Allies on August 27 last. Four months later the Austro-German-Bulgarian conquest of Rumania was complete, and Ferdinand had joined the list of kings without a throne.

Two recent royal reviews are the case of Russia that caused the abdication of Emperor Nicholas and the restoration of the rights to the throne by the new members of the imperial family. That Nicholas never again will be the ruler of "All the Russias" is a part of them is a foregone conclusion. When peace is restored the Russian imperial family probably will take up their residence in a foreign land, probably in England or in France.

Other changes that have taken place among the rulers in Europe since the beginning of the war may be summarized as follows:

Young Man To Make Blood Donation At An Early Hour

Many Responses To Plea For a Strong
Healthy Man To Make Sacrifice In
Interest of Human Kindness

RESPONSES FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY

My life will not be in vain,
If only one there be,
Who, for some kind deed that I
have done,
Will think well of me.

(A verse from a book of poems now being published by the Progress, the author of which is Grace Z. Platten of Westover, Pa.)

The above verse so well expresses the thoughts of consolation that can be experienced by whoever may be selected to submit to the operation of blood transfusion which was referred to in these columns yesterday.

We hope it will give our readers as much pleasure to learn, as it does us to record, that there was an overwhelming response to the want ad inserted in these columns yesterday. Men in all walks of life, young men and old men alike, were stirred by the appeal of the loving daughters of a deserving father and today there is great rejoicing where yesterday there was only gloom. Life for these people has taken on a new aspect and their faith in humanity and the universal brotherhood of man is strengthened.

Hardly had The Progress been on the street when Otto Eppert, familiarly known as the King of the Bootblacks, raced into the editorial office and offered his services. While there will no doubt be some remuneration for whoever is selected, a noticeable feature of the interviews was the fact that none of the applicants wanted to have anything to say about that part of it. All were actuated solely by the desire to help and be of service.

In quick succession, Horace Flegat,

Cecil Bloom, Harry Loder, Robert Newton, of Winburne, two young men of Woodland and numerous others from Clearfield and nearby towns formally offered themselves on the altar of charity and love for fellowmen.

From the Glass Factory came the news that at least three young men there signified their willingness to give blood. When the first young man made his statement this fellow employees quickly gave him assurances that in case he was accepted by the physician they would make up a pool of twenty dollars and pay his wages for the time lost. This action on the part of the factory workers at this place is indicative of the feeling around all public works where groups of men live, work and are willing to fight each other's battles and see other men through the throes of adversity.

Many men who realize that they are physically unable to make the sacrifice have come forward with offers of financial reward for the one who is selected and practically all who read the account yesterday have evinced considerable interest in the novel method of bringing the needs of an individual to the public.

A young man has been tentatively selected and if nothing unforeseen turns up the operation will take place sometime within the next forty-eight hours. His name is not available at this time and probably never will be. Suffice to say that he is actuated only by a desire to do service and in the spirit of human kindness. He underwent tests this afternoon for the second time and the third and final test in the process of preparation will be made at any early hour.

"THIRTY NINE KNOWN DEAD"

Indianapolis Ind., March 24.—Thirty nine persons dead and one hundred and fifty injured in the toll of human life in the tornado which swept Southern Indiana yesterday. The property loss is at least two million and the tornado came with greatest fury in New Albany, Indiana, where thirty four are known to be dead and over one hundred injured. The property loss here alone is near a million and a half.

*PUBLIC AGAINST BAKER*

Pittsburgh, March 24.—The United Press is able to state authoritatively that the government proposals to build the armor plate plant at Pittsburgh and that the raising of the bridges along the Allegheny river is a part of the war preparation program. The general public of Pittsburgh is against the improvement at this time but the program will be put through in the interest of preparedness regardless of the likes and dislikes of Pittsburghers.

MORE STRIKE BREAKERS LEAVE

There was another exodus of strike breakers from the New York Central yards this morning more than twenty-five of the guards leaving for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hancock are rejoicing greatly over the arrival of a fine big 11-1-2 pound boy at their home on Linden street yesterday morning.

That still other important changes will be made among the rulers in Europe is a certainty. The throne of King Constantine of Greece, for instance, is believed to be tottering, and as for his neighbor, the Sultan of Turkey, no one would be willing to give much for his chances of remaining in the list of European sovereigns after the war.

"Star Spangled Banner Long May She Wave"

Fling Old Glory to the Breeze and Do
It New

Clearfield people are finally waking up to the fact that this is the time when everybody should be proud to be an American and as a result of a little missionary work on the part of some of Uncle Sam's boys old Glory is being flung to the breeze from many of the buildings of the town. Everybody should hoist a flag. Fling it to the breeze from your home and office and wear it on your breast. Now is the time to inculcate patriotism. We are on the verge of war and it is up to every man to take his place.

A handsome flag now floats above Second street between the court house and Hotel Dimeling and everybody is getting enthused. Every other town but Clearfield is decked with American flags. Wake up, patriots! Keep the watch fires burning.

J. K. Palmer, a sergeant in the First U. S. Field Artillery, is also visiting Clearfield friends. He also saw service on the border.

It was indeed a grand display of the best there is in the makeup of bestial man and further goes to prove that this is not the selfish, greedy and materialistic age that some would have us believe it to be.

THE AWFUL TRUSTS

The following clipping is from the New York World and as the statements are facts we believe the wide dissemination of them will do much to break down what little belief is still had in the big trust bugaboo. For years we heard about the trusts and men have started in to fight the battles of one business schemer against another. Just as sure as one fellow got a little ahead of another the cry of trust went up and the fellow who would like to have been the big frog in the puddle immediately turned "reformer" and sought to stir up prejudice against the successful one:

"With gross sales and earnings by all its companies of $1,231,743,775 in 1916, with earnings after operating expenses of $342,397,092, with taxes paid totalling over $26,500,000 an dwith over 250,000 employees on its payroll, the Steel Trust's statistics for one year's business are imperial in extent and meaning. Yet it is an accepted fact that the Steel Trust is much further from controlling the steel industry of the United States than when it was created." New York World.

THE WARNING

Will the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs, the only remaining representatives of the doctrine of the divine right of individuals to rule over their fellows, follow in the wake of the Romanoffs? Russia has pointed the way. Will Germany and Austria follow suit?

Chancellor Bethmann Hollweg's address in the Prussian Diet was greeted with joy by the disciples of democracy, but its full significance is only appreciated in view of the happenings of the past few days and through a realization that the German statesman was fully apprised of what was occurring or about to occur in Russia when he spoke.

"Woe to the statesman who cannot read the signs of the times!" cried the Chancellor. "Woe to the statesman who believes that after this catastrophe, such as the world has never seen before—a catastrophe whose scope contemporaries and those directly engaged in it cannot possibly measure—woe to him if he believes he can start again from where he left off before the catastrophe."

Impatience with autocratic rule is growing. Will the rulers who have forced their subjects into blind obedience and taught them that the state, backed by military power and represented in themselves, is all, and the individual unworthy of consideration, realize in time that this wave of discontent will sweep them from their thrones?

The words of Chancellor Hollweg merit the careful thought of the people of Germany and Austria, but they are far more important to Kaiser Wilhelm and Emperor Charles. They were a solemn warning that should be heeded.

What Is Thrift?

In our last advertisement we found that Thrift began with the proper regulation of our expenses.

Moreover Thrift also includes the saving of the surplus.

Whether the surplus of earnings over necessary expenses is large or small it is worth while to save it.

The place for savings is in the bank where your money will work for you.

"ROMEO AND JULIET"

A Magnificent picturization of the World's most famous classic

In Verona lived two rival families, the Montagues and the Capulets, between whom a feud had existed for many years. Romeo, son of Montague, met and fell in love with Juliet, daughter of Capulet, and the two were secretly married. Immediately after the ceremony, Romeo became embroiled in a duel with a cousin of Juliet and killed him. The result was that the young nobleman was banished and had to leave his wife of a day. Meanwhile old Capulet had arranged for his daughter to marry another man, Count Paris. Rather than do this Juliet took a sleeping potion. Her parents thought her dead and placed her in the family vault, where Romeo, hearing that his wife was dead, found her. Overcome with grief, the youthful Montague took poison. Juliet, on awakening from unconsciousness, learned what had happened, and ended her life.

CARUSO'S PITTSBURGH PROGRAM A L ENEROUS ONE

Favorite Arias From Well Known Operas Included.

Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, is coming to Pittsburgh for a concert in Shriners' Mosque, Schenley Farms, on Saturday evening, May 5. This announcement is hailed with delight, not only by Pittsburgh music lovers, but special trainloads from the surrounding towns will help to make this the greatest musical event in the history of this district. The name Caruso is a household word, and this is the first time opportunity has been given to hear him in concert, so it is an occasion that no one can afford to miss. Only three cities are to be visited, and the highest fee ever paid for these engagements. Caruso will have as accompaniment for his program the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, which will enable him to appear to the best advantage in the arias and songs with which he is identified in opera. The Caruso program will be a unique one, for no other artist knows so well how to please his public, and he has promised to include favorite arias from the well known operas. Owing to the great demand for seats subscription lists for the Caruso concert are now open, and inquiries for reservations should be addressed to "Caruso Concert," 119-121 North Street, Pittsburgh where they will receive prompt attention.

SAVE THE BABIES

These are authentic quotations from the pamphlet on babies by Dr. L. Emmett Holt of Columbia University and Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw of Union University.

The baby's clothing in hot weather should be light and on very hot days only the shirt, band and napkin worn. Bathe the baby morning and evening and on very hot days at noon also. Keep the skin clean and well powdered. Napkins when soiled should be placed at once in water and washed as soon as possible. More on this subject will be told tomorrow.

London is at last to have women taxi drivers.

GLASS OF WATER
BEFORE YOU EAT
ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervy wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, salow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

Dr. Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, will preside.

PAIGE
*The Most Beautiful Car in AmericaIntroducing—
"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR
IN AMERICA"

On January the First we introduced what we sincerely believe to be the most beautiful car in America.

Thus, we admit, is a bold and sweeping statement.

It is probably the most sensational announcement that has ever been made by a manufacturer of medium priced automobiles.

But we mean precisely what the words imply, and only ask that you reserve final judgment until you have seen the new Paige with your own eyes.

It is not our purpose, in this advertisement, to describe one single detail of the latest and greatest Paige Achievement.

We merely invite you to visit the nearest Paige representatives—key your expectations up to the very highest pitch—and determine for yourself whether or not we have been guilty of exaggeration.

A moment's reflection, however, must convince you that we would not and could not make any such claim unless it were substantially correct.

Our entire reputation and position in the motor car industry depend upon the accuracy of our public utterances.

Knowing this, it is not likely that we would voluntarily assume responsibility for a statement which could be refuted to our everlasting discredit.

If, though, you are still inclined to doubt, please remember that Paige has been one of the truly creative factors in the motor car industry.

From the very beginning our body designs have been absolutely unique and refreshingly distinctive.

If imitation is the most sincere form of flattery, we should indeed feel flattered, because it is generally admitted that Paige designs have served as the models for practically every quality car in the industry.

Nothing could more strikingly emphasize the fact that Paige has always built beautiful cars—and can be logically expected to produce—"The Most Beautiful Car in America."

So far as the mechanical features of our product are concerned, you need only consult the thousands of owner records which have been established during the past seven years.

The Paige motor and chassis are world famous. They have been developed by the ripest engineering genius that the industry affords.

In them we have incorporated every improvement, every refinement, that could possibly increase the efficiency of a smooth running, ever dependable motor car.

As we have said time and time again, you can only expect to get out of an automobile precisely what the manufacturer puts into it.

There is no substitute for basic quality. To build the truly great things in this world one must work with his Heart quite as well as his Hands.

But for the present, we are going to say no more.

When you—and other Americans like you—stand before the latest and greatest Paige achievement, our case will be in the hands of the Jury.

So, please remember this advertisement at that time—every word of it—and determine for yourself whether or not our claims are justified.

In justice to your own interests, make it a special point to see "The Most Beautiful Car in America."

NEW MILLPORT

Mr. Greenwood Bell, formerly one of our distinguished citizens and prosperous business men and framers, but now of Dallas, made our town a short visit last week. When he, H. J. Sloppy, Elsie Bloom, and John C. Bloom got to talking in the postoffice it made many of the now middle aged men of New Millport feel much younger. Mr. Bell will be 89 years old on his next birthday.

Mr. E. E. Owens, of State College, visited Perry Norris this week. Mr. Owens is interested in the coal land of this vicinity.

Lowry Bloom, son of A. B. Bloom, was visiting among old friends here this week. His father has just recently ly moved from Clearfield to Ansonville to take charge of Charley McMurray's farm.

The "Camp Fire Girls" of New Millport effected a permanent organization last Saturday with the following officers:

Miss Margaret Erhard, President.
Miss Pearlie Norris, Vice President.
Miss Lorraine Fox, Treasurer.
Miss Nina Brown, Secretary.
Miss Hazel Erhard, Asst. Secretary.
Miss Carmen Powell, Dietetics.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miles Williams (nee Glenn) died at her home near New Millport, March 18, 1917, interment taking place in the Williams grave yard on Tuesday, March 20th. On account of the absence of Rev. Harry L. Jarrett, her pastor, who was in attendance at the annual conference at Lewistown, Rev. O. B. Poulson, her former pastor, but now of the Wal-lacetown M. E. church, preached the funeral sermon. Mrs. Williams was born December 25, 1852, and was married to J. Thompson Williams on August 22, 1871, who survives her. To this union were born the following children, Cora, Mrs. J. D. Pearce, deceased; Katherine, Mrs. W. G. Miller, now of Yatesboro, Pa.; Dessie, Mrs. J. H. Hill, now of Jersey Shore, Pa. and Harvey O. Still at home. Mrs. John Campbell, a sister, still survives Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Williams was a member of the Methodist church of this place, having united with it during the pastorate of Rev. Poulson. This death disintegrated an honorable, respectable, and highly esteemed couple who lived their united lives among the people of New Millport, and while the earthly tabernacle of Mrs. Williams is dissolved its occupant now belongs to the triumphant family of the "Many Mansions." Rev. Poulson's text was taken from Romans, 8th chapter and 18th verse, "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." Mrs. Williams has been a constant sufferer for many years. Her fortitude, christian life, and home love shone resplendent amid all her trials. The sympathy of this entire community goes out to the bereaved family and friends. While the body has completed its course it is comforting to know that the christian example of her life will ever be immortal in the lives of all who knew Mrs. Williams.

Mr. Williams and family are deeply grateful for the many acts of kindness and love manifest by neighbors and friends during the sickness and death.

The Whatchama Column

Chins

The chin is a one-story addition built on the lower end of man's physiognomy to keep his face from ending too abruptly.

But some perverse fates end that way anyhow. In fact, chins, like wealth, are unevenly distributed. Some of us have too many and some none at all. The Lord intended us to have one apiece, but whoever is in charge of the chin distribution department has muffed his job.

This is unfortunate, as the chin is an almost indispensable adjunct to every face. It is necessary for whiskers and things. The man who wears an assortment of them ought to be ashamed of himself.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XII.—First Quarter, For March 25, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xiv, 1-14.—A Quarterly Review—Golden Text, John xiv, 6.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—Jesus the life and light of men, John i, 1-14. Golden Text, John i, 4, "In Him was life, and the life was the light of men." The opening words of the lesson are away beyond us, high as heaven—what can we do? (Job xi, 8.) But in verse 14 He comes near to us, becomes one of us and reveals unto us the Father, and, seeing and knowing Him, we see and know the Father (chapter xiv, 9).

Lesson II.—John the Baptist and Jesus, John i, 19-34. Golden Text, John i, 29, "Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world." John was to Jesus as His first coming what the real Elijah will be at His second coming in glory, for the great and dreadful day of the Lord is still future, and Mal. iv, 5, stands, according to Matt. xvii, 11.

Lesson III.—First disciples of the Lord Jesus, John i, 35-51. Golden Text, John i, 43, "Jesus saith unto Him, Follow Me." John's second testimony turned men away from him to Jesus, and that was his aim, as it should be ours. Andrew and the unnamed other one, having spent the day with Jesus, quickly brought their brothers to the Messiah, whom they had found, and Philip brought Nathanael, who confessed Christ as Son of God and King of Israel.

Lesson IV.—Reverence of Jesus for His Father's house, John ii, 13-22. Golden Text, Matt. xxi, 13, "My house shall be called a house of prayer." By no means omit the marriage and the water changed to wine and the marriage of the Lamb which will precede the kingdom. Then shall follow Israel's great cleansing, according to Ez. xxxvi, 25.

Lesson V.—Jesus the Saviour of the world, John iii, 1-12. Golden Text, John iii, 16, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." Even the most religious and moral man cannot see or enter the kingdom unless he is born again by receiving the Son of God, who loved him and gave Himself for him. But there is life for a look for all bitten ones, and they shall share the bridegroom's joy in the morning (verse 29).

Lesson VI.—Jesus and the woman of Samaria, John iv, 1-26. Golden Text, I Tim. i, 15, "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners." A religious moral man must be born again, and a poor, immoral outcast may be born again, for He came to seek and to save the lost. The latter became a better witness than the former and brought many souls to Him. In such service He delighted and invites us to join Him, that we may rejoice together.

Lesson VII.—Jesus heals a nobleman's son, John iv, 43-54. Golden Text, Matt. viii, 13, "As thou hast believed so be it done unto thee." At Cana He had shadowed forth the glory of His own marriage, and now from Cana He sent life to a whole household. After the marriage want blessing there will be to multitudes! May the childlike faith of the nobleman be ours, for he believed the word that Jesus had spoken and went his way.

Lesson VIII.—Jesus at the pool of Bethesda, John v, 1-15. Golden Text, John ix, 4, "It was Jesus who had made him whole." A truly helpless pool for really helpless people, but there is a fountain which is better than all pools, and He gives life to all who hear His word and believe on Him—that is, receive Him. There is no book like the Scriptures, and by Scripture we learn of Him, but unless we come to Him of whom they tell we cannot obtain life (I John v, 12).

Lesson IX.—Jesus feeds the five thousand, John vi, 1-21. Golden Text, Matt. vi, 11, "Give us this day our daily bread." Feasts of the Lord had become mere feasts of the Jews, and the multitudes were perishing. Today the public worship of God is largely mere formalities, stoves for bread, and our Lord is still saying, "Give ye them to eat." He is ready to take what we have that is real bread and increase it as needed.

Lesson X.—Jesus the bread of life, John vi, 22-40. Golden Text, John vi, 35, "Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life." Living Bread from heaven, and yet people despise it, even as Israel loathed the manna in the wilderness and in their hearts turned back to the food of Egypt. See these men disputing and arguing far-and-away of eating. And so it is still, just as in the invitation to the marriage feast they all made light of it, each preferring his own way. One of the most manifest delusions of the devil is the way in which men despise the love and grace of God.

Lesson XI.—Jesus saves from sin, John viii, 12, 28-37, 56-59. Golden Text, John viii, 36, "If therefore the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." He had no stones for penitent sinners, and no one else has any right to throw any, for He is the only one without sin. He came not to condemn, but to save. He is saying to all thirsty ones, "Come unto Me and drink." He says just as plainly that all who will not come shall die in their sins and, preferring the devil to God, shall have to take the devil's portion.

'WHITLOCK WITHDRAWN'

(By United Press)
Washington, March 24.—The state department has announced the withdrawal of Brand Whitlock as minister to Belgium. No further statement is made.

Washington, March 24.—The withdrawal of Brand Whitlock by the State Department is taken to mean that the "end" is beginning. The State Department also announces that all Americans engaged in relief work in connection with the government are advised to withdraw from the country over which Germany now rules. Mr. Whitlock has been ordered to take up his official residence at Havre, France.

Reports coming through state that Whitlock has been greatly inconvenienced for several weeks by the German officials of Belgium. Mail has been intercepted. He was denied the services of a courier and all messages, even those in plain English, were held up.

It is now the firm belief in Washington that the withdrawal of Whitlock is only the first move toward putting this nation in shape to make a formal declaration of war and that his call to get out of Belgium will be followed by many governmental actions of a like nature.

The sinking of the Norwegian Steamer Ronald with a Portland, Oregon, sailor aboard further complicates the situation.

Using Williamsport High Dasket Ball team for the instrument the C. H. S. Fve gave the new gymnasium in the new High School building a thorough tryout last night and it surpassed all expectations as a proper place for the athletic glorification of C. H. S. The boys responded with plenty of vim and ginger and at the first sound of the referee's whistle were off with a spang determined to wrest victory from the representatives of the m'nsaire city. The first half was exceedingly fast and furnished the immense crowd with one of the best exhibitions of basket ball ever witnessed here. The cheering and applause given both sides on stellar plays was quick to show appreciation of good sportmanship on either side.

A crowd of at least seven hundred were on hand to witness the game and those "650 seats were all filled on Friday night" as the Progress said they would be. The second half was not quite so fast as the first but the game ended with the best of good feeling, many displays of stellar basket shooting and a score of 32 to 18 in favor of the team that always whips DuBois. Every member of the local team did excellent work but the spectacular shooting of the little boy of the crowd, Pooler, both on goals and fouls, brought forth a great deal of comment.

NO BITTER ISSUE IN NEW SESSION OF CONGRESS

Some Sidelights on History of
Past Sessions Where Party
Alignments Were Close

SHARP FIGHT FOR SPEAKER

Washington, D. C., March 22.—When the House of Representatives of the Sixty-fifth Congress assembled for the extra session next month it will find the two parties lined up with a smaller difference in numbers than ever before; and it is this small difference which is expected to result in a sharp fight for the Speakership, which is causing the students of history and parliamentary precedents to dive into the volumes telling of former close contests at the Capitol. Although the present political status is extremely interesting, there are no such bitter issues at stake as those which tore the country in the days preceding the civil war.

In the Twenty-sixth Congress the organization of the House was delayed three weeks on account of a contest in the New Jersey delegation, the five candidates who had been returned as elected at large having their seats contested by the five Democratic candidates on the ground of a miscount in one county. For three days the clerk, who under the rules always presides during the election of a Speaker, refused to put any motions save to adjourn, and the proceedings were very disorderly. John Quincy Adams, former President of the United States, having become disgusted with the behavior of the clerk, took the chair, called the House to order and declared that he would entertain any parliamentary motions. The first motion was to elect him Speaker pro tem, and he presided for two weeks, until Robert M. P. Hunter, of Virginia, a Whig, was elected Speaker.

The Thirty-first Congress was badly mixed up politically, neither party having a majority. There were 110 Democrats, 105 Whigs and nine Free Soilers. The latter refused to vote for either the Whig or Democratic candidates for Speaker, and after sixty-two fruitless ballots agreed that on the next ballot a plurality should elect. Howell Cobb of Georgia, a Democrat, was then elected Speaker.

The Thirty-fourth Congress was another "conglomerate" body, the Democrats having a small majority in the Senate, and neither party a majority in the House. There were 108 "anti-Nebraska" and Republican members, eighty-three Democrats and forty-three Americans and Southern Whigs. After 133 ballots had been taken without result it was agreed that a plurality should elect, and Nathaniel P. Banks, Jr., of Massachusetts an anti-Nebraska Republican, was elected as Speaker.

The Thirty-sixth Congress was equally "conglomerate" the Democrats controlling the Senate and no party controlling the House. The Democrats had 101 members, the Republicans 113 and the Americans twenty-three. These latter were all from the South, except four. The Republicans were loosely organized. There was no majority and a serious situation confronted the Republicans if they wished to place their Speaker in the chair. There were sixteen candidates on the first ballot. John Sherman of Ohio received 66 of the Republican votes and Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania received 43, while Representative Boone of Virginia, a Democrat, led with 86. Representative Grow withdrew his name and John Sherman took the lead. But Sherman's endorsement of "Helpful's Impending Crisis," an abolitionist's book, was made an excuse by Humphrey Marshall of Kentucky and Henry Winter Davis of Maryland, for "helping" his nomination, and after two months of fruitless balloting—Mr. Sherman several times lacking but two votes for election—William Penniman of New Jersey was elected Speaker.

Personal encounters were narrowly averted during this long struggle over the Speakership. Branch of North Carolina challenged Grow of Pennsylvania. There were threats of killings and assaults. There were arrests of members who became too obstreperous with the House. Penniman and Grow were both arrested and held in custody. Representative Haskin of New York was arrested and held in custody. Representative Haskin of New York was arrested and held in custody. Representative Haskin of New York was arrested and held in custody.

KING JOB LISTED AS HAZARDOUS OCCUPATION

Past Five Years Has Seen Wonderful Changes in Personnel of Rulers of Europe

MANY MORE WILL TOPPLE SURE

London, March 23.—The recent upheaval in Russia, long regarded as the European stronghold of absolutism, has set the man in the street wondering who will be the next king to be thrown into the discard in the great game of war.

Not since the era of the Napoleon wars has the world been treated to the spectacle of so many toppling and tottering thrones as has been furnished since the beginning of the present conflict in Europe.

In chronological order, the momentous changes that have taken place among the rulers in Europe since the beginning of the war may be summarized as follows:

Belgian monarchy overthrown by the German invasion at the very commencement of the war. King Albert and the other members of the royal family fled to France. For the past two years the Belgian king and queen have remained near the front in the western theater of war, while their children have been cared for in England. King Albert's restoration to the throne depends altogether upon the ultimate triumph of the Allies.

In such an event he may safely look forward to a restoration of his dominions with a large accession of territory to compensate him for the sufferings he has endured. Victory for the Germans, on the other hand could mean nothing else to him than permanent exile. Whichever way the game results, however, the Belgian king will be entitled to a niche in history as one of the most heroic figures of the war.

The throne of King Peter of Serbia tumbled when the Central allies invaded his dominions in the latter part of 1915. In behalf of the aged ruler it may be said that he led his people in a valiant defense, continuing to give battle until the last Serbian stronghold had fallen before the invading Tenthons. In the end he narrowly escaped capture by fleeing on horseback. The probability of his ever again taking up the sceptre at Belgrade is regarded as exceedingly remote.

If Serbia is restored as an independent kingdom it will be under the sovereignty of some one other than King Peter. It is well understood that the exiled monarch has no desire to return to the throne. It is his wish, when peace returns to retire to private life in Geneva where he spent many years before called to the Serbian throne and where he still has many friends.

The return of peace will have nothing in store for King Nicholas of Montenegro, no matter which group of powers wins. Should the two Kaisers prove victorious, Montenegro would be either incorporated with Austria, or else it would be awarded to Prince William of Wied, to serve as a province of his reconstituted kingdom of Albania. If, on the other hand, final victory rests with the quadruple entente, Montenegro, which is peopled in the main by Serbs, will be assigned to the kingdom of Serbia, a plan which would meet with no opposition whatever on the part of the Montenegrin people, who have long been dissatisfied with King Nicholas and more so with his sons.

A large question mark symbolizes the situation with regards to the future of King Ferdinand, who ascended the throne of Rumania on the death of his uncle King Charles on October 10, 1914, and entered the war on the side of the Allies on August 27 last. Four months later the Austro-German-Bulgarian conquest of Rumania was complete, and Ferdinand had joined the list of kings without a throne.

Two recent royal reviews are the case of Russia that caused the abdication of Emperor Nicholas and the restoration of the rights to the throne by the new members of the imperial family. That Nicholas never again will be the ruler of "All the Russias" is a part of them is a foregone conclusion. When peace is restored the Russian imperial family probably will take up their residence in a foreign land, probably in England or France.

Other changes that have taken place among the sovereigns of Europe since the beginning of the war may be summarized as follows:

Young Man To Make Blood Donation At An Early Hour

Many Responses To Plea For a Strong
Healthy Man To Make Sacrifice In
Interest of Human Kindness

RESPONSES FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTY

My life will not be in vain,
If only one there be,
Who, for some kind deed that I
have done,
Will think well of me.

(A verse from a book of poems now being published by the Progress, the author of which is Grace Z. Platten of Westover, Pa.)

The above verse so well expresses the thoughts of consolation that can be experienced by whoever may be selected to submit to the operation of blood transfusion which was referred to in these columns yesterday.

We hope it will give our readers as much pleasure to learn, as it does us to record, that there was an overwhelming response to the want ad inserted in these columns yesterday. Men in all walks of life, young men and old men alike, were stirred by the appeal of the loving daughters of a deserving father and today there is great rejoicing where yesterday there was only gloom. Life for these people has taken on a new aspect and their faith in humanity and the universal brotherhood of man is strengthened.

Hardly had The Progress been on the street when Otto Eppert, familiarly known as the King of the Boot-blacks, raced into the editorial office and offered his services. While there will no doubt be some remuneration for whoever is selected, a noticeable feature of the interviews was the fact that none of the applicants wanted to have anything to say about that part of it. All were actuated solely by the desire to help and be of service.

In quick succession, Horace Flegat,

Cecil Bloom, Harry Loder, Robert Newton, of Winburne, two young men of Woodland and numerous others from Clearfield and nearby towns formally offered themselves on the altar of charity and love for fellowmen.

From the Glass Factory came the news that at least three young men there signified their willingness to give blood. When the first young man made his statement this fellow employees quickly gave him assurance that in case he was accepted by the physician they would make up a pool of twenty dollars and pay his wages for the time lost. This action on the part of the factory workers at this place is indicative of the feeling around all public works where groups of men live, work and are willing to fight each other's battles and see other men through the throes of adversity.

Many men who realize that they are physically unable to make the sacrifice have come forward with offers of financial reward for the one who is selected and practically all who read the account yesterday have evinced considerable interest in the novel method of bringing the needs of an individual to the public.

A young man has been tentatively selected and if nothing unforeseen turns up the operation will take place sometime within the next forty-eight hours. His name is not available at this time and probably never will be. Suffice to say that he is actuated only by a desire to do service and in the spirit of human kindness. He underwent tests this afternoon for the second time and the third and final test in the process of preparation will be made at any early hour.

"THIRTY NINE KNOWN DEAD"

Indianapolis Ind., March 24.—Thirty nine persons dead and one hundred and fifty injured in the toll of human life in the tornado which swept Southern Indiana yesterday. The property loss is at least two million and the tornado came with greatest fury in New Albany, Indiana, where thirty four are known to be dead and over one hundred injured. The property loss here alone is near a million and a half.

*PUBLIC AGAINST BAKER*

Pittsburgh, March 24.—The United Press is able to state authoritatively that the government proposals to build the armor plate plant at Pittsburgh and that the raising of the bridges along the Allegheny river is a part of the war preparation program. The general public of Pittsburgh is against the improvement at this time but the program will be put through in the interest of preparedness regardless of the likes and dislikes of Pittsburghers.

MORE STRIKE BREAKERS LEAVE

There was another exodus of strike breakers from the New York Central yards this morning more than twenty-five of the guards leaving for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hancock are rejoicing greatly over the arrival of a fine big 11-1-2 pound boy at their home on Linden street yesterday morning.

That still other important changes will be made among the rulers in Europe is a certainty. The throne of King Constantine of Greece, for instance, is believed to be tottering, and as for his neighbor, the Sultan of Turkey, no one would be willing to give much for his chances of remaining in the list of European sovereigns after the war.

"Star Spangled Banner Long May She Wave"

Fling Old Glory to the Breeze and Do
It New

Clearfield people are finally waking up to the fact that this is the time when everybody should be proud to be an American and as a result of a little missionary work on the part of some of Uncle Sam's boys old Glory is being flung to the breeze from many of the buildings of the town. Everybody should hoist a flag. Fling it to the breeze from your home and office and wear it on your breast. Now is the time to inculcate patriotism. We are on the verge of war and it is up to every man to take his place.

A handsome flag now floats above Second street between the court house and Hotel Dimeling and everybody is getting enthused. Every other town but Clearfield is decked with American flags. Wake up, patriots! Keep the watch fires burning.

The editor desires to return thanks to the many full hearted men of Clearfield county who so bravely came forward in reply to the call yesterday for assistance to the needy stranger within our gates. It was indeed a grand display of the best there is in the makeup of bestial man and further goes to prove that this is not the selfish, greedy and materialistic age that some would have us believe it to be.

THE AWFUL TRUSTS

The following clipping is from the New York World and as the statements are facts we believe the wide dissemination of them will do much to break down what little belief is still had in the big trust bugaboo. For years we heard about the trusts and men have started in to fight the battles of one business schemer against another. Just as sure as one fellow got a little ahead of another the cry of trust went up and the fellow who would like to have been the big frog in the puddle immediately turned "reformer" and sought to stir up prejudice against the successful one:

"With gross sales and earnings by all its companies of $1,231,743,775 in 1916, with earnings after operating expenses of $342,397,092, with taxes paid totalling over $26,500,000 an dwith over 250,000 employees on its payroll, the Steel Trust's statistics for one year's business are imperial in extent and meaning. Yet it is an accepted fact that the Steel Trust is much further from controlling the steel industry of the United States than when it was created." New York World.

THE WARNING

Will the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs, the only remaining representatives of the doctrine of the divine right of individuals to rule over their fellows, follow in the wake of the Romanoffs? Russia has pointed the way. Will Germany and Austria follow suit?

Chancellor Bethmann Hollweg's address in the Prussian Diet was greeted with joy by the disciples of democracy, but its full significance is only appreciated in view of the happenings of the past few days and through a realization that the German statesman was fully apprised of what was occurring or about to occur in Russia when he spoke.

"Woe to the statesman who cannot read the signs of the times!" cried the Chancellor. "Woe to the statesman who believes that after this catastrophe, such as the world has never seen before—a catastrophe whose scope contemporaries and those directly engaged in it cannot possibly measure—woe to him if he believes he can start again from where he left off before the catastrophe."

Impatience with autocratic rule is growing. Will the rulers who have forced their subjects into blind obedience and taught them that the state, backed by military power and represented in themselves, is all, and the individual unworthy of consideration, realize in time that this wave of discontent will sweep them from their thrones?

The words of Chancellor Hollweg merit the careful thought of the people of Germany and Austria, but they are far more important to Kaiser Wilhelm and Emperor Charles. They were a solemn warning that should be heeded.

What Is Thrift?

In our last advertisement we found that Thrift began with the proper regulation of our expenses.

Moreover Thrift also includes the saving of the surplus.

Whether the surplus of earnings over necessary expenses is large or small it is worth while to save it.

The place for savings is in the bank where your money will work for you.

"ROMEO AND JULIET"

A Magnificent picturization of the World's most famous classic

In Verona lived two rival families, the Montagues and the Capuets, between whom a feud had existed for many years. Romeo, son of Montague, met and fell in love with Juliet, daughter to Capuet, and the two were secretly married. Immediately after the ceremony, Romeo became embroiled in a duel with a cousin of Juliet and killed him. The result was that the young nobleman was banished and had to leave his wife of a day. Meanwhile old Capuet had arranged for his daughter to marry another man, Count Paris. Rather than do this Juliet took a sleeping potion. Her parents thought her dead and placed her in the family vault, where Romeo, hearing that his wife was dead, found her. Overcome with grief, the youthful Montague took poison. Juliet, on awakening from unconsciousness, learned what had happened, and ended her life.

Favorite Arias From Well Known Operas Included.

Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, is coming to Pittsburgh for a concert in Shriners' Mosque, Schenley Farms, on Saturday evening, May 5. This announcement is hailed with delight, not only by Pittsburgh music lovers, but special trainloads from the surrounding towns will help to make this the greatest musical event in the history of this district. The name Caruso is a household word, and this is the first time opportunity has been given to hear him in concert, so it is an occasion that no one can afford to miss. Only three cities are to be visited, and the highest fee ever paid for these engagements. Caruso will have as accompaniment for his program the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, which will enable him to appear to the best advantage in the arias and songs with which he is identified in opera. The Caruso program will be a unique one, for no other artist knows so well how to please his public, and he has promised to include favorite arias from the well known operas. Owing to the great demand for seats subscription lists for the Caruso concert are now open, and inquiries for reservations should be addressed to "Caruso Concert," 119-121 North Street, Pittsburgh where they will receive prompt attention.

SAVE THE BABIES

These are authentic quotations from the pamphlet on babies by Dr. L. Emmett Holt of Columbia University and Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw of Union University.

The baby's clothing in hot weather should be light and on very hot days only the shirt, band and napkin worn. Bathe the baby morning and evening and on very hot days at noon also. Keep the skin clean and well powdered. Napkins when soiled should be placed at once in water and washed as soon as possible. More on this subject will be told tomorrow.

London is at last to have women taxi drivers.

BEFORE YOU EAT

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervy wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, salow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

TO PROMOTE MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

Chicago, Ill., March 23.—Universities, colleges and high schools throughout the country have been asked to send representatives to a conference to be held in this city tomorrow to promote the work of the Government's military training camps the coming summer. Dr. Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, will preside.

PAIGE
The Most Beautiful Car in AmericaIntroducing—
"THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR
IN AMERICA"

On January the First we introduced what we sincerely believe to be the most beautiful car in America.

Thus, we admit, is a bold and sweeping statement.

It is probably the most sensational announcement that has ever been made by a manufacturer of medium priced automobiles.

But we mean precisely what the words imply, and only ask that you reserve final judgment until you have seen the new Paige with your own eyes.

It is not our purpose, in this advertisement, to describe one single detail of the latest and greatest Paige Achievement.

We merely invite you to visit the nearest Paige representatives—key your expectations up to the very highest pitch—and determine for yourself whether or not we have been guilty of exaggeration.

A moment's reflection, however, must convince you that we would not and could not make any such claim unless it were substantially correct.

Our entire reputation and position in the motor car industry depend upon the accuracy of our public utterances.

Knowing this, it is not likely that we would voluntarily assume responsibility for a statement which could be refuted to our everlasting discredit.

If, though, you are still inclined to doubt, please remember that Paige has been one of the truly creative factors in the motor car industry.

From the very beginning our body designs have been absolutely unique and refreshingly distinctive.

If imitation is the most sincere form of flattery, we should indeed feel flattered, because it is generally admitted that Paige designs have served as the models for practically every quality car in the industry.

Nothing could more strikingly emphasize the fact that Paige has always built beautiful cars—and can be logically expected to produce—"The Most Beautiful Car in America."

So far as the mechanical features of our product are concerned, you need only consult the thousands of owner records which have been established during the past seven years.

The Paige motor and chassis are world famous. They have been developed by the ripest engineering genius that the industry affords.

In them we have incorporated every improvement, every refinement, that could possibly increase the efficiency of a smooth running, ever dependable motor car.

As we have said time and time again, you can only expect to get out of an automobile precisely what the manufacturer puts into it.

There is no substitute for basic quality. To build the truly great things in this world one must work with his Heart quite as well as his Hands.

But for the present, we are going to say no more.

When you—and other Americans like you—stand before the latest and greatest Paige achievement, our case will be in the hands of the Jury.

So, please remember this advertisement at that time—every word of it—and determine for yourself whether or not our claims are justified.

In justice to your own interests, make it a special point to see "The Most Beautiful Car in America."

NEW MILLPORT

Mr. Greenwood Bell, formerly one of our distinguished citizens and prosperous business men and framers, but now of Dallas, made our town a short visit last week. When he, H. J. Sloppy, Elsie Bloom, and John C. Bloom got to talking in the postoffice it made many of the now middle aged men of New Millport feel much younger. Mr. Bell will be 89 years old on his next birthday.

Mr. E. E. Owens, of State College, visited Perry Norris this week. Mr. Owens is interested in the coal land of this vicinity.

ly moved from Clearfield to Ansonville to take charge of Charley McMurray's farm.

The "Camp Fire Girls" of New Millport effected a permanent organization last Saturday with the following officers:

Miss Margaret Erhard, President.
Miss Pearl Norris, Vice President.
Miss Lorraine Fox, Treasurer.
Miss Nina Brown, Secretary.
Miss Hazel Erhard, Asst. Secretary.
Miss Carmen Powell, Dietetics.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miles Williams (nee Glenn) died at her home near New Millport, March 18, 1917, interment taking place in the Williams grave yard on Tuesday, March 20th. On account of the absence of Rev. Harry L. Jarrett, her pastor, who was in attendance at the annual conference at Lewistown, Rev. O. B. Poulson, her former pastor, but now of the Wal-lacetown M. E. church, preached the funeral sermon. Mrs. Williams was born December 25, 1852, and was married to J. Thompson Williams on August 22, 1871, who survives her. To this union were born the following children, Cora, Mrs. J. D. Pearce, deceased; Katherine, Mrs. W. G. Miller, now of Yatesboro, Pa.; Dessie, Mrs. J. H. Hill, now of Jersey Shore, Pa. and Harvey O. Still at home. Mrs. John Campbell, a sister, still survives Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Williams was a member of the Methodist church of this place, having united with it during the pastorate of Rev. Poulson. This death disintegrated an honorable, respectable, and highly esteemed couple who lived their united lives among the people of New Millport, and while the earthly tabernacle of Mrs. Williams is dissolved its occupant now belongs to the triumphant family of the "Many Mansions." Rev. Poulson's text was taken from Romans, 8th chapter and 18th verse, "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." Mrs. Williams has been a constant sufferer for many years. Her fortitude, christian life, and home love shone resplendent amid all her trials. The sympathy of this entire community goes out to the bereaved family and friends. While the body has completed its course it is comforting to know that the christian example of her life will ever be immortal in the lives of all who knew Mrs. Williams.

Mr. Williams and family are deeply grateful for the many acts of kindness and love manifest by neighbors and friends during the sickness and death.

Chins

The chin is a one-story addition built on the lower end of man's physiognomy to keep his face from ending too abruptly.

But some perverse faces end that way anyhow. In fact, chins, like wealth, are unevenly distributed. Some of us have too many and some none at all. The Lord intended us to have one apiece, but whoever is in charge of the chin distribution department has muffed his job.

This is unfortunate, as the chin is an almost indispensable adjunct to every face. It is necessary for whiskers and things. The man who wears an assortment of them ought to be ashamed of himself.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salt E. Back hurts or bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters. Our blood is filled with meat. A well-known authority writes that to be constantly eating meat is a real trouble.

The kidneys do the work of filtering the blood of the animal. When they become weak from the use of meat, they get sluggish, the blood becomes clogged and thus the waste products of the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys are weak, you like lumps of lead in your back, you get dizzy spells, sleeplessness, headache, ach or rheumatism in the limbs, and from your pharmacist, about the ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before each meal, fast each morning and at a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the purest of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys to neutralize the acids in the urine so it is no longer irritating, thus ending the suffering of kidney disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and it does not injure the stomach. It is a natural lithia-water that is made by nature. It is a mistake to think of it as a medicine. It is a natural and active.
